Dog's Best Friend Isn't Man, It's The State Law

Sometimes it pays to be a dog. They have as many rights - maybe more - than men.

Take the case of a Ballardvale beast.

He's bitten three or four men, and several children. Dog Officer Martin Caughey reported the details to the Selectmen Monday night.

The animal runs loose. He's not leashed.

In fact, Caughey reported that it's hard to find a "muzzle big enough" to fit.

The Selectmen spent nearly 3/4 of an hour talking about the dog, and trying to find some way to have him restrained.

But unlike a man, whose first offense against another man, or even an animal, is likely to produce quick counter measures, the dog continues to run free.

The law specifically states that someone must file a written complaint against the beast, before the Selectmen can direct the police chief to hold a hearing. The chief then can report his recommendations to the Board for action.

Caughey, Chief David L. Nicoll, Town Manager Thomas F. Duff and members of the Board agreed wholeheartedly that this canine is no friend of man or child; that he needs to be kept off the streets and out of the yards.

But instead of taking direct action, they have had to direct a new appeal to residents of the section, asking them to write their complaints. The neighbors have been

Mr. Haselton noted that not all of the individuals endorse Urban Renewal, but all have signed a document expressly stating their willingness to invest.

In naming the list of interested men, Mr. Haselton also explained that others, who have not signed the statement of interest, have indicated their interest.

Police Hunt For Hit-Run Car

Police are still hunting - with meagre clues - for the hit-and-run motorist who struck Edward Ellis III, 17, 52 Morton st., as he walked along Shawshen rd. last Saturday night.

Sgt. Robert Deyermund was able to talk with Ellis Tuesday, but he remembers nothing about the accident. He was walking home from the Grange building, where the Teen Center had a dance, about 11:30 p.m. The car that struck him apparently was heading towards Andover center.

Realty Trust Calls Meeting For All Residents Feb. 14

Every taxpayer in the town is being invited to take part in the Realty Trust, now in the process of assuming legal identity for the purpose of taking part in Urban Renewal redevelopment.

The session will be held Feb. 14, at 8 p.m., at the Andover Country Club. Invitations, in the form of a brochure, are being mailed this week. The invitation is also extended to any interested resident, who may not be on the only available list for mailing purposes.

They then will be asked to indicate their willingness to financially take part in the Trust, even if in a small way.

Others, unable to attend, are being asked to notify Joseph B. Doherty or Robert Jeffreys of their interest.

TWO CANDIDATES' NIGHTS SCHEDULED BY LEAGUE

Two Candidates' Nights will be held prior to the election March 4, under sponsorship of the League of Women Voters.

Central School will be the scene of the first meeting, Feb. 12, at 8 p.m. The second will take place in the High School auditorium Feb. 26.

Candidates will have three minutes to speak, and then will be asked to answer questions submitted in writing from the floor.

Additionally, any interested resident can send questions to Mrs. Jerome Andrews Jr., 62 Porter rd. or Mrs. George Edmonds, Pemberton Cottage, off Main st., in advance of the meetings.

Town May Hire Co-op Students

Two Northeastern University students may be hired by the town, to serve in the engineering department.

The town manager has suggested that the men be hired, and has included money in the budget for this purpose. He pointed out Monday night that the engineer has no one to go out on surveywork. Thus he asks for untrained help from other departments. A saving in time could result, the manager believes, by having engineering students serve in the department. He said a number of towns, and some of the consulting engineers, utilize the services of students.

Dr. Hugh Penney, interim pastor of the West Church, spent the weekend in New York City.

Appeal Board To Hear Case

One basic question will be posed, at a hearing by the Board of Appeals Feb. 7:

Is a Florence st. lot zoned for business or residential use?

That appears to be the substance of the disagreement between neighbors near the junction of Florence and Park sts., and local men who have obtained a building permit for an office building there.

The Florence st. residents, vigorously upset over the intrusion of an office building into what they call a residential area, contend that the building permit was issued in error, because the zone is residential and does not permit such a use.

The developers received the permit from Building Inspector Arthur W. Peatman and have stated that they assume the area is properly zoned, or the permit would not be issued.

The hearing is an appeal against the issuance of the permit.

Decision Expected On Town Planner

The town may get some full-time planning, if budgeted items are approved by the Finance Committee and town meeting.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, has included money in the budget for a "trial period", claiming that the town needs some continuity in its planning for land uses.

The Selectmen have suggested that the item might better be placed in a special article, so all the voters at town meeting can act on the concept of having a full-time planner.

1963 is already 10 % over!

This is Feb. 7. This is the thirty-eighth day of the new year. Already ten percent of this year is behind us.

What does this mean to regular CO-OP shoppers? It means that they have already accumulated ten percent of their 1963 CASH refunds. And, as the year progresses, they will have every opportunity to multiply their present 1963 savings ten-fold. This is true because every purchase made at the CO-OP is subject to a refund in real CASH.

Meanwhile, the CO-OP is busy figuring out last year's refund for each shopper who turned in his or her 1962 sales slips.

Refunds in real CASH are by no means the only reason why more and more people prefer to shop CO-OP. The CO-OP is the locally-owned super-market with the best foods at the right price in an attractive and friendly atmosphere, with delivery to your car in our ample parking lot.

South PTA To Hear Discussion

Lauristan Ward

Wednesday, Feb. 13, in the South School cafeteria, the South School PTA will present a panel discussion on the topic "Is our public school program meeting the needs of today's children?"

The program begins at 8 o'clock. The panelists are Thomas McKenna, guidance supervisor for Andover's elementary schools; Fred Tarbox, chairman of the Regional School District Planning Board; Lauristan Ward, curriculum coordinator for Andover schools; and Ellerton Whitney, elementary physical education instructor. Gerald Lewis, well-known Lawrence attorney, will be moderator.

Following the panelists' opening statements, questions submitted by parents at the October PTA meeting will be read and discussed. Ample time will be allowed for further questions from the floor.

Because this topic is of widespread current interest, members of the other PTA's and interested townspeople are most cordially invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Parking Report Is "Encouraging"

An "encouraging" report on Raytheon parking was received Monday night by the Selectmen.

Chairman Russell G. Doyle used that adjective to describe reports that the firm is looking at specific properties, in terms of adding to its parking. There was no specific report to identify the land, however.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said the number of traffic violations has dropped, since the rigid enforcement began Jan. 28.

There were 90 cars tagged that day, 67 on Tuesday, 42 Wednesday, 27 Thursday and this Monday the number was 23.

Robert Jenkins Had Fifth Birthday

Robert Jenkins of Ballardvale rd. celebrated his fifth birthday Jan. 31.

Six young friends joined in the festivities: James and Judith Mower, Alan Sherrerd, Win Gaynor, Daniel Zussman and Wayne Knipe.

SLEIGH RIDE WAS ENJOYED

Sunday afternoon was cold but still just right for a Sleigh ride, which 20 members of the Senior High Pilgrim Fellowship of the West Church enjoyed.

Under the supervision of their leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klie, the group left the church at 6:30 with their warm clothing and blankets for Middleton, where they enjoyed a real old fashioned sleigh ride. The horses were driven by W. Evans of Middleton.

Kinnear Sentenced In Superior Court

The operator of a car involved in an accident at Andover st. and Dascomb rd. last May, which resulted in two deaths, has been sentenced to the house of correction for two months on charges of driving to endanger.

Ralph Kinnear, 20, of Kilby and Crescent sts., Wilmington, appeared in Superior Court last week on manslaughter and driving to endanger charges.

He was placed on probation for three years on the manslaughter counts, with a sentence of 2 1/2 years on those charges.

Judge Robert Sullivan heard the jury-waived trial.

The accident resulted in the death of Catherine Scharin, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Scharin, formerly of Alden rd., who was a passenger in a car driven by Lorna Marruzzi, 3 Hall ave., Ballardvale. Fred Fiset, 22, 55 Converse st., Malden a passenger in the car driven by Kinnear, also died.

A condition of Kinnear's probation, after he serves the two months in jail, is that he will not drive a car during the period. Judge Sullivan warned that if he is found behind the wheel of a car in that time, the sentence will be placed in effect.

The court was informed that the defendant's driving license has been suspended for 10 years.

League Supports Regional School

Members of the League of Women Voters have voted unanimously in favor of Andover becoming a part of a Vocational Regional High School District.

The proposal establishing such a district will be on the ballot for all citizens to vote on at town election March 4. At meetings Jan. 24, League members discussed the concept of a vocational-technical education, the need for such an education, a school to provide it in this area, whether such a need existed in Andover, and the cost of the project.

The difference between manual training and shop work, as offered in the Andover schools and in most schools of similar size, and complete vocational-technical training as proposed in the new school, was given a thorough explanation. The Andover schools offer wood-working shop, metal shop, and mechanical drawing as part of general education. They have no thought of offering a complete technical course in even one of the many trades or technical fields now searching for workers. And the size of Andover with the percentage of pupils going on to further education after high school could not afford the space, time, machinery, or teachers that a good program of this sort would demand.

The league concluded. The proposed Regional Vocational School will give four years training in trades such as auto shop, drafting, carpentry, basic electricity, electronics, commercial art, food trades, machine shop and metal fabrication. This will enable a graduate to enter the job market with a real skill; he will be two full years up the apprenticeship scale and able to command a living wage.

Evening courses will also be available for adults who wish to upgrade the level of their present skills or to acquire new skills.

WOMEN FROM THE entire Merrimack Valley gathered here recently, for a meeting of the Connecticut College for Women alumnae and guests. Some of the Andover residents taking part were, seated, Mrs. Fred Harrison and Mrs. Capen Abbott. Standing are Mrs. Leon Somers, Miss Sandra Borrelli, Mrs. Dalton McBee, Miss Ainslee Anderson, Miss Lynne Anderson, Mrs. Thomas Regan and Mrs. J. Russem.

"The Directors feel that the entire membership of the Andover Board of Trade should have the opportunity to vote on the question of whether or not the Board should endorse the proposed Urban Renewal Project", Mr. DeRuisseau stated. The evening session is planned to allow all the members to attend and vote.

After a planned discussion on the pros and cons of Urban Renewal two ballots will be taken. The first ballot will read, "Should the Andover Board of Trade take a public stand on the proposed Urban Renewal project for Andover?" If the members agree that the Board should make a public statement, the second ballot will be taken, asking the members whether or not the Board should endorse the project.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Build It Big Enough

The reported increase in school enrollment — beyond the maximum predictions of a special study committee in 1960 — highlights the importance of projected new construction on the secondary level.

For the inability to justify, statistically, the higher school population has a direct bearing on the type of school that is built, and its size.

Every new school faces the same test when it is in the planning stages — how many children must be served, how large must the school be? And it is just a common fact that statistical predictions can not tell the whole story. Up to now, we have built schools to meet the needs as foreseen for a short period of time. And we have faced the necessity of adding to them.

As the School Committee continues its discussions with the architects, it is imperative that the rapid growth in enrollments be kept foremost in their minds. We can not afford to build a new high school, for example, which will be crowded in another six or seven years. It must be built large enough, with proper facilities, for the peak enrollment that can be predicted — plus some extra.

This is the only sensible way to build a school — additions cost far too much as compared to building the larger building all at once.

Normal Courtesy Required

It's astounding, when you stop to think of it.

How would you like to cast yourself in the role of a garbage collector for a minute — and find yourself wading through snow, or walking along treacherous paths, to reach the receptacle. And when you reach it — the darn thing is over-sized and frozen to the ground, as well.

Sounds ridiculous. Yet it's true.

The town voted to have garbage collected, and that is being done. But it is beyond the point of being reasonable to expect the collector to lug giant-sized pails through unshoveled paths.

The solution is simple — the town and the collector jointly state that paths must be cleared, and that the pails must be about six-gallons in capacity. Otherwise the garbage will not be collected.

It seems unreasonable, even astounding, yet some residents apparently haven't displayed the same courtesy to the town's representative in this area of service as they do to others. The town is quite right in requiring this minimum amount of work by residents, if they wish to have the refuse picked up on schedule.

Support Is Deserved

The need for a regional vocational school — a matter of some local debate recently — seems to have been established beyond question.

And when the question of adoption appears on the ballot March 4, we urge voters in the town to overwhelmingly approve the measure.

The type of education to be gained in such a school can not be offered at Andover High; we suspect, moreover, that there will be considerably more interest in attending this school than has been forecast.

It appears to us that a "yes" vote on election day will be a vote for a worthwhile project — one that our own school-age children can utilize to good advantage in future years.

Stories For All

This week's story hour at the library is named "Elephants Big And Small" and all stories have elephants as their theme. Next week, Thursday, Feb. 14, the subject is "February Festivity" and will follow the Valentine outline. The stories to be told will be "Appollonia's Valentine", "A Present For Auntie" and "The Baker's Daughter". Story hours begin promptly at 3:35 o'clock and end about 4:20. In Ballardvale most programs begin at 4 o'clock and run until 4:45.

Littlest Listeners

The Cardinal group meets in Andover Wednesday morning, Feb. 13 at 10 o'clock, and the following morning the Ballardvale group will hold its usual program in the branch library at the same hour.

Canadian Films

Three more color films of Canadian subjects will be on hand at the library from now until the end of March for those who wish to use films with their groups. They are "Avalon Holiday", a fourteen minute film of the Avalon Peninsula of Newfoundland with its many activities; "New Brunswick Without Fishing?" ten minutes of the highlights that interest visitors to New Brunswick, and "Skier's Choice", another 14 minute study of skiing, with a brisk display of christies, Slalom runs, parallel and wedeln techniques. In addition to these, there are to be fifteen other films on a variety of subjects, some in color, of varying time runs, which will be available at some period before the end of March, any of which may be borrowed with the Canadian films. Program chairmen should reserve films early.

A Word On Reading

William Lyon Phelps, the late educator and literary critic, once wrote: "The secret of the cultivated mind is to read not only widely but thoughtfully, for there is no doubt that the happiest person is the person who thinks the most interesting thoughts." In the light of this statement, it may be well to remind you that the world's most powerful ideas and most interesting thoughts are recorded for you in books.

If your interest is in the thinking of the ancient philosophers who sought to give reason to the meaning of life itself, or in the words and works of today's educators, researchers and leaders, there are books to bring them to you.

These wait for you in your library. Three visits to it, and you have formed the "library habit." It's the first step toward a richer, fuller life.

King Tut Has His Day

Whether you visit the Boston Museum of Fine Arts to see the treasures of King Tutankhamun, or watch one or both of the television programs to be given over Channel 2 in February, you are sure to want more material about the boy king whose mausoleum, undisturbed for more than thirty centuries, gave the modern world its first glimpse of the ancient art and crafts of ancient Egypt.

The Library has prepared an exhibit of books, pictures and mounted clippings about the subject which may be seen for the next week or two, and from which material may be borrowed. A few of the books listed here indicate the coverage: Life of the Ancient East, Baikie; Story Of The Pharaohs, Baikie; Tomb Of Tut-Ankh-Amen, Carter; Neferiti Lived Here, Chubb; The Glory Of Egypt, Gayet-Tancrède; The Lost Pyramid, Ghunaim; Cleopatra's Needle, King; Egyptian Archaeology, Maspero; Tombs, Temples and Ancient Art, Smith; The Glory Of The Pharaohs, Weigall; The Egyptian, Waltari; Popular Account Of The Ancient Egyptians, Wilkinson.

Design Competition For Buildings In Renewal Area

A grand design competition has been proposed for commercial buildings within the Urban Renewal area.

A sub-committee of the Realty Trust will recommend this process to its full membership, as a means of finding the best design for buildings, which would be compatible with public buildings such as the churches, library, post office, etc., and yet workable in terms of cost, controls and commercial factors.

A panel of judges approved by the Committee on Competitions of the American Institute of Architects and by the National Institute for Architectural Education will be selected.

An outline of these plans was presented to the Housing Authority Jan. 31.

During the discussions between the two groups, it was announced that when the full Trust organization meets, its sub-committee will recommend that it be non-profit in nature. It also has been agreed that no individual, family or group can hold more than 10 percent of the shares, thus eliminating control by a single person or group.

The sub-committee also has agreed that shares may be purchased by any individual with a general interest in Andover, and particularly the down-town area.

The parking area, under the control of the Trust until all indebtedness is paid off, will then revert to the town, which can continue to collect the moderate assessments required to meet upkeep and maintenance.

The Trust also announced to the Housing Authority that it plans to pay its share of taxes during its lifetime.

Mrs. William J. Riley, formerly of 1111 Ave., is now residing at 133 Andover st., Ballardvale.

It takes time for eggs to hatch and for savings to grow and earn dividends.

Simply letting money stay put and earn good compound dividends, is just about the best investment you can make in times like these.

Add to your savings from time to time (set another hen!) and someday you'll have a lot of chicks.

Don't get impatient and shoo the hen off to take a look at the eggs.

Start an account at Lawrence Co-operative today with as little as $5 - and let nature take its course. Your money will hatch good dividends (now 4% compounded 4 times a year on all savings accounts) if you don't disturb it.

State DPW Controls Access

The state Department of Public Works has called attention to the access controls exercised by the Department.

These will be of interest to anyone planning to construct homes or a business in areas where the state has established access controls.

One local example of this problem is the area - now zoned for business - at the junction of Route 133 and 93, where it has been difficult to establish a commercial access to the property.

The controls fall into the categories of commercial, residential, pedestrian or "no control", according to the Department. It wants all developers and builders to check layout plans before getting too involved in planning.

The Committee consists of Mrs. Goff, Miss Beatrice Henderson, Mrs. Floyd Darby, and Mrs. Alex Henderson.

Debate Issuing Victualers License

The Selectmen are still debating whether to issue a victualers license to McDonald's drive-in, on North Main st.

James Leanos, manager of the new stand, told the Board Monday that he hopes to open Feb. 11.

After asking questions the Board agreed to wait until acting town counsel Alfred Daniels can tell the members how much authority they have to control hours and other details concerning the stand.

During the meeting Mr. Leanos said he would plan to open seven days a week; Sunday through Thursday from 11-11 and to remain open until midnight Friday and Saturday nights. He described this as routine for stands in the McDonald chain.

He promised to have adequate maintenance of the property from the standpoint of rubbish; he also advanced the idea that his men should go a block in each direction from the property to pick up paper.

There would be no policeman on duty at the site, at least until he can see how business is, the manager stated.

Plan Survey For Kindergarten.

In order to make arrangements for the registration days which will be held in April and May this information should be in the Schools by March 15.

A child may enter kindergarten provided he will be five years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1964.

Chief Nicoll told the Board that the law does not allow a direct restraining order to be made or enforced, without the protection of a hearing and then a review by the Selectmen.

And if no such complaint is forthcoming - no matter what the officials know to be true of the animal's behavior - the dog can continue to roam.

Residents have been warned by the town manager that they must keep paths clear of ice and snow, if they expect the town's garbage collector to pick up their refuse.

He also has again cautioned homeowners to use pails holding five or six gallons - not the giant size pails that can not be lifted or carried any distance.

If snow and ice is not kept clear, or if the pails are too large, he warns that the garbage will not be collected.

Holy Hour This Sunday

A Holy Hour for the continued success of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine will be conducted Sunday, Feb. 10, at 3 p.m. in St. Augustine's Church.

Members who are now actively engaged in CCD work will be formally enrolled, making them eligible for the many indulgences available. All of St. Augustine's parishioners, who are interested in learning more about CCD activities, are also invited to attend.

Very Rev. Francis X. McGuire will deliver the sermon. Father McGuire, a former president of Villanova University in Pennsylvania, will speak on the importance and need for religious education for every member of a parish. The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine is a six-fold program aimed at the religious education of all members of a parish. This goal is achieved through workers in various divisions, namely teachers, helpers, home visitors, parent-educators, discussion clubs and apostles of good will. At a social hour in Good Council Hall immediately following the Holy Hour, the chairmen of each division will be on hand to discuss the activities and accomplishments of their part of the program.

Members Elected To Thrift Shop Board

The Andover Thrift Shop, which benefits the parish of Christ Church, and the community at large, announces that as of Feb. 18, new consignments of spring and summer clothes will be received at the shop at 26 Chestnut st., Monday through Wednesday. All items should be boxed, clean, modish, and in good repair. All garments should be sized.

In January, new directors elected to the Board were Mrs. Thomas M. Hood and Mrs. William A. Munroe, to take the place of Mrs. J. Everett Collins and Mrs. Lester Thompson. Mrs. James Waters will serve as chairman of the group, which includes Mrs. Manfred Jones, Mrs. Philip Sargeant, Mrs. Robert W. Coombs, Mrs. Geoffrey Glendenning and Mrs. James Adriance.

Appeal Board Hearing Tonight

A hearing on the construction of an office building on Florence st. will be held tonight at townhall by the Board of Appeals.

The 7:30 p.m. session was requested by residents of Florence st., who seek relief from the building inspector's issuance of a construction permit.

In a second development, residents of the area went into Superior Court yesterday, seeking a temporary restraining order against further construction, pending the Appeal Board's decision.

The hearing was held in Boston. The residents — John H. Grecoe, Arthur L. Coleman, Joseph F. Barton, Anne M. and Elizabeth R. Sweeney, Ann J. Zalla and Atty. Edward A. Gordon — asked the Court to halt further work because its continuation might result in a hardship to the owners, thus resulting in a variance from the zoning by-laws.

The owners are identified as Robert E. Wilson and Arthur A. Collins.

Forms have been poured in the past few days, it was learned. Representing the residents is Atty. William G. Evans of Topsfield.

The dispute involves the property at 26-28 Florence st. A house has been torn down, to make way for an office building.

The present owners claim that the lot is in the business zone, and were issued a permit by the building inspector. The residents claim that the lot is residential. Town officials have pointed out that the line runs through the property.

Can Get Final Commitment

A commitment by the federal government guaranteeing that the proposed Realty Trust can purchase land from the Housing Authority, under Urban Renewal, probably will be forthcoming before town meeting.

In fact, Housing Authority Chairman David McDonald Jr. is discussing the subject with government officials this week.

Asked Tuesday whether there could be a final agreement before town meeting — to become effective if that session approves Urban Renewal — Mr. McDonald said he is currently discussing this with the New York office.

He explained that the federal authorities are anxious to have local development in Urban Renewal, and thus he believes there will be no trouble in reaching a conclusion with the government agency.

Any agreement hinges on there being a written offer by the Realty Trust, which would be acted upon by the Housing Authority and transmitted to New York for action.

If an agreement is reached, this would preclude any other person or corporation coming on the scene later, and buying the same land.

Such an agreement basically involves the price of the land — the Authority has had one appraisal, and the Realty Trust has its own set of figures indicating how much can be spent for land to be used as parking area.

LAST CHANCES TO REGISTER TO VOTE

Non-registered adults have two more chances to become registered voters, prior to the annual town election March 4.

A session will be held Friday night at Peabody House, from 7-9.

The final day is Feb. 12, from noon to 10 p.m., at the town hall.

Mrs. Selby Groff, who has been a medical patient at Bon Secour Hospital, is now recuperating at her home on Cutler rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tron Bethel, Conn., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. William D. of Prospect rd.
